OVERVIEW

The culinary needs of college students are not met through traditional channels. In addition, college students often have special nutritional requirements. This technology describes a set of approximately 100 recipes designed specifically for college kids. The recipes were collected from students in the food production laboratory and were reviewed and tested for nutritional value and taste.

KEY BENEFITS

- Because these recipes came from students, they are more likely to be accepted by other students.
- Recipes are available on CD, a popular format for today's computer savvy college students.
- Foods are nutritional and tasty.
- Ideal for gift-giving.
