

Treatment Of Sinusitis Related Chronic Facial Pain And Headache With Botulinum Toxin Injections

View U.S. Patent No. 8,691,769 in PDF format.

WARF: P05053US

Inventors: Gary Borodic, Martin Acquadro

The Invention

The present invention provides methods for treating sinus-evoked headaches using botulinum toxin injected or applied in multiple subcutaneous locations over divisions of the trigeminal nerve in soft tissues and dermatomes overlying the corresponding effected sinuses implicated in the etiology of the pain.

Tech Fields

- Therapeutics & Vaccines : CNS

For current licensing status, please contact Andy DeTienne at adetienne@warf.org or 608-960-9857